Injury-Riddled E. J. Eleven Win Fourth Victory

EDGE OUT A FIGHTING GRAYLING TEAM 13-12

An injury-riddled East Jordan High School football team chalked up its fourth victory of the season last Friday afternoon at Grayling by edging out a fighting Grayling High School eleven 13-12.

Coach Bruce Smith's Green & White dropped its fifth game of the campaign but not until they had thrown a scare into the Red and Black. With but seven minutes to play in the final period, East Jordan held a 13 to 0 lead, but were forced to watch this seemingly comfortable lead dwindle to one point before the game's end.

Grayling made its all-out effort following a pass interception at midfield and after a series of off tackle slants by Bill Worden, team mate McClain crossed the goal on a pitch out to the right and Grayling was back in the ball game. Worden's thrust at the line failed to add the extra point and East Jordan was still out in front 13-6 with three minutes remaining. Two plays after kicking off the Red and Black, Grayling was again in possession of the ball, having recovered a Jordan fumble on the 37 yd. line. A pass play B. Worden to McClain took the ball to the local 15. After brother Bill smashed to the two yard line Don Worden hit the right side of his own line to make the score 13-12 with less than a minute remaining to play. Grayling's spark dimmed here however as the fast charging local forward wall smothered B. Worden under as he tried to add the extra point that would tie the game on a wide pitch out to the left.

Big Don Whiteford scored both tallies for the Jordanites going over from the three in the opening stanza and again in the third period after scooping up a Grayling fumble at midfield. Whiteford's kick from placement in an attempt to add the first extra point was wide but Sommerville's off tackle smash added the point that later spelled victory following the second touchdown.

It was the fourth time this season that Grayling has lost a close ball game, having dropped close decisions to Pellston, Boyne City, Mancelona and East Jordan. In Bill Worden, Grayling has one of the hardest driving backs in the North and with this lad in the lineup Grayling is dangerous on every play as he is the type of back that could go all the way at any time. All in all this lad is a one man gang and it takes a hard tackle to bring the stocky 200 pounder down.

The Red and Black will meet their traditional rivals, Boyne City, here, Friday afternoon at 3:00 p. m. at the West Side Athletic Field.

Fall Control Helps Cut Field Mouse Damage In Orchard

Damage to Michigan fruit trees by field mice can be stopped if control measures are applied in October or early November, according to C. A. Langer, Michigan State College horticulturist.

As every fruit grower knows, rodents gnaw a deep hole in the farmer's pocketbook when they feed on fruit tree bark.

Langer says the way to check much of the rodent damage is to clear away all the grass and sod around the tree trunks for a distance of two feet. After this is done, the cleared area should be filled with gravel, cinder, or lake sand. The material should be banked slightly up to the tree trunk.

Poison baits are also recommended by Langer. Three materials can be used. Meadow mice and pine mice can be checked by a grain-zinc phosphide bait. So birds and animals will not feed on the bait, cracked corn should be dyed with a green vegetable dye before the poison is added.

Two-inch apples cut into 10 to 12 pieces, shaped as orange slices, can also be treated with zinc phosphide for bait. Because zinc phosphide is poisonous, directions should be secured from county agr'l agents for safe use. During the mixing process, rubber gloves should be worn, Langer warned. The mixing should be done outdoors.

Another effective control is strychnine-treated oats placed in a runaway under a forkfull of straw or hay mulch. As a caution, Langer said that all dropped fruit under a tree should be picked up before poison bait of any kind is applied.

Junior Auxiliary Plans Active Year

Many fine plans are under way for a very full and interesting year for the Junior Auxiliary Unit 227.

There will be a Halloween Party Wednesday evening, Oct. 18, to start the activities off. Plans have been made for a Bake Sale Nov. 4 for the purpose of raising money to start buying shirts for uniforms the girls will wear to distinguish them from the other girls out on hikes, parades, etc. Other activities are to follow through the year, such as a Thanksgiving Party, Christmas and Easter Parties. There will also be a lot of work to do to help the Community and Auxiliary. Toys will be made for the Community Christmas Program. These girls are all very enthusiastic and ambitious to make this a very fine year.

Mariliegh Cark, Junior Activities Chairman, is working hard to do all she can in directing this group in their work and helping them to become fine citizens of the community and nation so that when they are old enough to become adult Auxiliary members they will be ready to take their places as leaders and workers in this fine organization.

The Junior Auxiliary hold meetings on the second and fourth Saturday afternoon of each month at the Legion Home. The officers who were elected last year will continue in office for the term of 1950 and 1951.

Safety Pays For Itself In Happiness All The Time

Friends, the other day I heard someone say, "I'm sick and tired of hearing safety messages all the time!" Do you feel like switching off the radio when you hear somebody warn you to drive carefully? Well, if you do, friends, remember that some of the nearly 90 persons killed in traffic accidents each day probably thought the same thing before an accident killed them. Nobody can be sure, but the National Safety Council says you can be sure that safety pays for itself in happiness all the time.

TERRACING DEMONSTRATION FRIDAY

A demonstration on constructing a diversion terrace will be held next Friday afternoon, Oct. 20, starting at 2:00 p. m. The demonstration will be held at the farm of Clayton Healey who lives on the Peninsula. This demonstration is sponsored by the Board of Directors of the Charlevoix Soil Conservation District and will be assisted by E. B. Watkins, Farm Planner, and E. Rebman, County agr'l agent.

All farmers whether interested in a soil conservation plan or not are invited to attend this demonstration. Taking care of water is just as much of a soil conservation measure as preventing land from blowing away. By the use of terraces and divisions this water is moving soil over a sod strip and whereby does not cause any erosion by washing. The equipment needed for this demonstration will be regular farm equipment which every farmer has at the present time.

Our Red Feather Drive Gets Under Way

INCREASED BUDGET REQUIRES ANOTHER WEEK'S SOLICITING

The Community Chest thermometer at the postoffice is going up steadily but another week will be needed to solicit the entire town. Each worker has literature which tells the whole story of the Community Chest dollar. 82 cents is spent for East Jordan activities and the other 18 cents goes for health and welfare organizations doing work in this county, the state of Michigan and includes a sum for our boys and girls in service. The increased budget (about $500 more than we asked for last year) is needed to give more milk to our school children, including the 2nd grade, and to increase our recreation activities, especially to provide more for our girls.

Please note this budget covers a year's work and taken altogether includes more than thirty health and welfare units. Because of the size of a Red Feather Drive, we would like you to give in Quarterly payments, Nov. 1st, Feb. 1st, May 1st, and Sept. 1st. A letter will be sent when each payment is due and you can take it to the bank or postoffice. Last year many people took advantage of this method of giving.

Bill Grauel, as campaign manager, assisted by Jason Snyder, has secured the services of many East Jordan citizens to work on the drive. Following is a partial list of workers. The list will be completed in next week's edition of this paper when we hope to make the announcement that we have gone over the top.

Farm Bureau Roll Call Time

Attention folks! It is drawing near to Farm Bureau roll call time, and now you have the privilege of joining an organization where you can voice your own opinions, talk things over with your neighbors and make resolutions. These resolutions are sent to the County Board, then on to Stanely Powell who personally sees that the Farm Bureau member's decisions are brought before our State Legislature.

It really is a wonderful privilege. After all, what good are your ideas if you just talk and do nothing about them. But you can count on it, the Farm Bureau is definitely the voice of the farmers. So let's get together and make our voices count through our local Farm Bureau.

Remember the old saying, "United We Stand, Divided We Fall".

Another advantage of being a member of the Farm Bureau is that it includes the whole family. It teaches the spirit of good citizenship and community living. Anyone coming to the meetings will find them interesting from an educational and social view point. Let's get together and make our 1950 Farm Bureau the biggest and best ever.

80 State Police Recruits Begin School Course

The eighth post war session of the Michigan State Police training school is under way with an enrollment of 80 candidates for enlistment as troopers.

The course, which is being conducted at East Lansing headquarters, will require eight to nine weeks. The training is intensive and covers a wide field of subjects. Upon graduating, the troopers are sworn in and placed on probation for six months. At the end of that period their appointments are confirmed if their work has been satisfactory.

The present school was authorized recently by the legislature as part of the state's defense preparedness, a special appropriation of $156,000 being authorized to add 60 troopers.

In order to provide a wider field from which to obtain recruitments, enlistment was opened up for the first time to married as well as single men.

What Farmers Home Administration Have To Offer In Credit

The major part of Farmers Home Administration loans in Charlevoix County this year are being used to help farm families readjust their work to changing conditions. Some loans will be made to enable veterans and other young farmers to become established. Farmers Home Administration loans tend to encourage the family farm as the base of American agriculture. The agency, today, discourages seasonal loans and ones where poor farming will be perpetuated. Farmers who do not want willingly to cooperate with Mr. Rebman, the county agent, or Production Marketing Association, or Soil Conservation Service, generally find a loan difficult.

During the past year over 100,-000 farmers in the country, who were unable to get operating or production credit elsewhere, borrowed from the Farmers Home Administration, according to John C. Young, County Supervisor. His office is in the post office building, Boyne City.

According to Mr. Young, these loans run up to five years and are based on individual farm and home plans calling for good practices and such reorganization as will assure an adequate income.

When you select a wringer-type washing machine, be sure to check for the convenience of the safety release. Everyone has absent-minded moments, for protection the release should be easy to reach and to operate.

Sweet potatoes contain a rich supply of vitamin A, worthwhile quantities of vitamin C and small amounts of the B vitamins and minerals. To preserve these nutrients, cook them quickly and in their jackets, advise Michigan State College foods specialists.

Soviet Radio Sets Estimated At 1,300,000

LONDON—According to a survey by the United Nations there are only 1,300,000 regular radio sets in all of the Soviet Union on the basis of the latest available figures.

There are also 6,500,000 "wired receivers" in Russia over which government-monitored and approved programs are piped to Russian listeners. The only choice offered to listeners is between one Soviet broadcast and another.

The report did not say how many of the 1,300,000 regular Russian sets were short wave and even capable of picking up American and British broadcast in Russian beamed at the Soviet Union.

The survey showed the United States was the largest radio listening nation in the world and Britain was the largest newspaper reading country.

U.S. First in Radios

It said that in the United States every two persons owned a radio set and in Britain one daily paper was sold for every two people.

In the Soviet Union only one daily paper is sold for every six persons.

The survey, compiled at the request of the United Nations subcommission on the freedom of information and the press, also included the following data:

Total circulation of daily papers throughout the world is nearly 219,-000,000 a day; there are 160,000,-000 radio sets and more than 44,-000 cinema seats.

The United States is sixth as a newspaper-reading nation, preceded by Britain, Norway, Luxembourg, Denmark and Sweden.

Russia Has 7,163 Papers

But Britain is second to the United States in the number of radio sets. There are 566 sets to each 1,000 persons in the United States and only 227 in Britain.

The survey said that the Russian-wired receivers picked up broadcasts from Soviet stations and transmitted them to subscribers by wire; the equipment in the listener's home consisted simply of a loudspeaker. The listener's choice is limited to the program selected for him, the survey showed.

The survey said that many countries in Africa, Asia and South America were poorly off for means of communication. In the underdeveloped parts of Africa there are millions without a newspaper in their own tongue.

The survey showed that the average person in the United States went to the movies 32 times a year, the average Briton 29 times and the average Russian three times.

In the Soviet Union, 7,163 papers were published in 1947 in seventy languages, against 8,769 papers pre-war; circulation in 1947 was 31,100,000 against 38,000,000 before the war.

Film to Help Women Detect Symptoms of Breast Cancer

SAN FRANCISCO—A motion picture film which doctors are counting upon to save the lives of thousands of women made its debut recently.

The film uses a live model to show how women can examine themselves for the first signs of breast cancer. It will be released for private showings to women's organizations. It was produced by the American Cancer Society and the National Cancer Institute, a division of the United States public health service.

In the United States about 50,-000 women get breast cancer every year and about 20,000 of them die of it later. If it can be detected quickly, the victim's life nearly always can be saved by quick surgical removal of the malignancy.

For quick detection, said Dr. Austin V. Deibert, of the cancer institute, a monthly examination of all women over 35 is needed. The only hope, he added, is to show the women themselves how to look for signs of breast malignancy.

Just in From Desert, Burro Very, Very Dry

LONG BEACH, Calif. — George Brown Hayes, a cook, was talking spiritedly to a burro in a beachside zoo and the officer on duty, John Logan, didn't interfere.

But when Hayes suddenly nodded his head and tipped a wine bottle into the burro's throat, Logan exercised his authority.

"That jackass asked me for a drink, so I gave it to him," protested Hayes, booked for intoxication. "He said he just got in from the desert and he was terribly, terribly dry."

New Scale So Sensitive It Will Weigh Nothing

ROANOKE, Va. — A new scale so sensitive that it will weigh one-thirtieth of one-billionth of an ounce has been perfected, Dr. Jesse W. Beams, noted physicist, has announced.

The scale will not be used to measure separate items. But in chemical reaction field scientists will be able to use the new tool.

Hitler's Campaign Failed to Stamp Out Love for Jazz

DUSSELDORF, Germany — During the reign of Hitler, American jazz was "verboten" to German teen-agers. But his theory didn't take.

Duke Ellington, touring Germany for the first time since the war with his band, said he found the best audiences he ever played to in Germany.

"While American swing was banned in Nazi Germany, I found that most of the young people I talked to listened secretly," he said. "They know my oldest records. Two told me that they had served concentration sentences for playing my jazz records.

"Others said they used to take a gramaphone out in a canoe in the lake for 'sneaking sessions.' They know as much about it as any American youngster."

The 6,000 youths who filled the Apollo, western Germany's only de luxe movie vareity theater, were poorly dressed and the four marks (about one dollar) they paid for admission was almost a fortune to most of them.

Outside the theater some 2,000 without the price of admission, jitterbugged on the streets as the strains of "St. Louis Blues" filtered through the open doors.

A newspaperman noticed a Communist youth who had helped break up a political rally the night before. He obviously was frightened and embarrassed at being caught listening to jazz, now verboten to the Communists as it was to the Nazis.

"I was overcurious," he said wistfully and melted into the crowd.

21 Japs on Pacific Island Still at War With U. S.

HONOLULU, H. I. — Twenty-one Japanese are still at war with the United States.

The navy has announced that the island of Antahan in the northern Marianas is so small and unimportant it won't risk sending a landing party to take the 21 Japs still holding out against American forces.

The navy has tried everything short of war to get them out. Pamphlets and food have been dropped from planes. Boats circle the island broadcasting over loud-speakers that World War II is over.

The Japs are not convinced.

The navy said it hopes the Japanese will "tire of their present existence and surrender." One Japanese woman surrendered to a small navy field party June 30.

Torso of 18-Year-Old Boy Found in Stomach of Shark

GALVESTON, Tex. — Galveston officials were horrified and puzzled when they found the torso of a youth, perhaps 17 or 18 years old and between five feet and five feet five inches tall, inside a shark.

The skipper of a shrimp boat told puzzled officers his crew netted the nine foot man eater in the bay and tossed the shark overboard in the harbor after it died.

J. L. Naughman, chief marine biologist for the Texas game, fish and oyster commission and an expert on sharks, said the shark could have found its human meal a long way from Galveston. A shark can swim 250 miles in a day, he said. He estimated it would take a shark about three days to digest a human body.

Baughman also said that it is possible the shark did not attack the youth, but devoured the body after the youth had drowned or died in some other manner.

Mother of Youth Who Set Fire to Shrine Kills Self

KYOTO, Japan—Mrs. Shinako Hayashi, 49, mother of the youth who is accused of setting fire to Kyoto's ancient shrine, the Golden Pavilion, threw herself to death from a speeding train "to atone for her son's crime."

Mrs. Hayashi journeyed from her home in Kyoto to see her son. He refused to talk with her. On her return journey she jumped to her death.

Before leaving to return to her home, she told reporters she would die for her son to atone for the crime. Her son, who also attempted suicide, told police he set fire to the pavilion because he was "jealous of its beauty."

Shaw Requested No Gifts, Cards on 94th Birthday

LONDON, England—George Bernard Shaw, who was 94 on July 26, asked not to be reminded of the anniversary. He sent messages to persons who, on the basis of past performances, might be expected to pester him again:

"Mr. Bernard Shaw implores his friends and readers not to celebrate his birthdays, nor even to mention them to him. It is easy to write one letter or send one birthday cake, but the arrival of hundreds of them together is a calamity that is not the less dreaded because it occurs only once a year.

"Acknowledgement of such unwelcome letters and gifts is not possible."

Pants Not Theoretical

A candidate for the Communist party was undergoing an oral examination.

"Comrade," he was asked, "what would you do if you were left two million rubles?"

"I would give one million to the party and keep the other million for myself," he answered.

"Very good, and if you had two houses?"

"I'd give one to the party and keep the other myself."

"Excellent. Now tell me what you would do if you had two pairs of trousers?"

There was a long pause, and then the candidate said, "Comrade, I don't know."

"Why not?"

Well, you see, I have two pairs of trousers."

Not the Cost, But the Upkeep

Standing in a crowded street car, a rather buxom woman was vainly trying to find a token for carfare. All her pockets had been tightly buttoned as a precaution against pickpockets, and no little commotion resulted.

"Please, let me pay your fare," said a man beside her.

"Nothing of the kind," she replied continuing the search. "I've got the fare here some place."

"I'm sure of it, lady," said the man, "but I'd like to pay your fare. You've unbuttoned my suspenders three times already!"

In these days it is hard to tell whether a person is walking to reduce or reduced to walking.

He was warned against the woman,

THREE CHEERS

Three Lutheran preachers played golf with this Catholic priest. Just about every day the four were out whacking at birdies.

Then one day the three Lutherans decided to call on their good friend the priest at his morning service. They walked into the church and, since it was crowded that morning, stood against the wall at one side. Finally the priest spotted them.

"Get three chairs for the Lutherans," he whispered to the altar boy.

"What?" the kid asked.

"Get three chairs for the Lutherans," the priest repeated.

The altar boy walked out in front of the congregation and announced:

"Let's all give three cheers for the Lutherans!"

No Surprise

A young New York couple went to a doctor for a physical examination before getting married. After the examination, the young man called a couple of days later for the diagnosis.

"Is everything O.K., Doc?" he asked.

The doctor shook his head.

"Your girl friend has acute angina," the doctor said.

"You're telling me, Doc!" the young man said.

As the first frosts show on the pun'kin, political leaders attempts to tighten ranks for the forthcoming election. Democrats and Republicans are stomping the hinterlands, saving the congested areas until the last minute.

Political issues, as presented by Nominees Williams and Kelly, are along these lines: Democrat—The Republican "Old Guard" at Lansing are reactionary; kick the old fogeys out. Republican—The CIO is trying to take over state government; kick "Soapy" out. If you are in a mood to protest, you have an interesting choice.

Another crow in the pie is the reapportionment issue — being kept alive by Democrats who want a change in the system of representation. The conflict — now on the fire two years—boils around Democrat claims of apportionment by population, not area, which might give them an edge in Detroit.

New war note: although the draft is still the heavy news item so far as the military is concerned, an acute nursing shortage is foreseen by state officials. One spokesman pointed out: " the present supply of 300,000 active nurses has been insufficient even for civilian needs "

At the same time, the state medical society usges "A. S. T. P." doctors to volunteer. Medics in this category are those receiving training during World War II on government funds. "Eager Beavers" have been few.

Since the Korean war has looked better, emphasis has dropped off civilian defense in a typical American way. But Detroiters complain that the National Security Resources Board should have given them an idea of what to do in case of atomic attack. "Certainly," a spokesman said, "They should have told us what not to do".

Michiganites again are beginning to notice the credit curbs of wartime restrictions. While not too tough yet, they are reminded of the almost "no buying" policies their families adopted during those barren days.

But government officials in their battle against inflation still hope to hold the line through credit curbs. Will it work? Truman's new wage-price czar Alan Valentine (professor) may have new ideas—Truman pins his hopes in him, the public awaits his decisions.

But with the announcement of Valentine's appoint came the revelation that new restrictions could be expected, especially on down payments on homes, automobiles, refrigerators, TV sets and other luxury items. An indication of future action?

Meanwhile, one economist still says pay checks are tied directly to the price of bread—the big problem being, how to keep workers from feeling cheated when the cost of living is on a soaring spree.

College student may have new hope if the "superior ability" draft test is approved—and it has been accepted by the American council on education. "A properly safeguarded student deferment policy is in the national interest," the group agreed.

The Michigan Air National Guard has received the federal go-ahead to add more than 350 men for a new combat wing.

Driver education now has become of interest to automobile corporations. G. M. has taken a lead and produced a series of motion pictures and slide films for teaching high school pupils how to be good motorists.

You my get relief from that histamine pill, but it won't keep you from getting colds, according to a recent release. There was no evidence that use of the pills cut down lost time by workers from colds.

Flood control? Despite reports to the contrary, army engineers promise the $180,000 survey of the Grand River Valley will be carried out this fall on schedule. Called "essential", no change in the survey is expected, barring all-out mobilization.

Slow Down at Sundown

Look out when it's dark out!

That's an October warning to Michigan drivers and pedestrians from the Michigan Department of Health.

Autumn haze, early darkness, rainy weather and longer nights greatly increase the danger of traffic accidents and pedestrian injuries.

Slow down at sundown! A safe speed for daylight hours may be dangerous in the evening or at night, the Department warned drivers.

To the pedestrians, it said: Wear light-colored clothing and walk on the left side of the road, facing on-coming traffic. Carry a flashlight.

And to farmers: You risk your life when you take a slow-moving tractor or other farm equipment onto the highway during the evening hours or at night.

Growing in Prayer

Lesson for October 22, 1950

LIFE MAGAZINE, which does not set up as an authority on religion some years ago carried a story about a litte girl who was going to be confirmed in the Episcopal church. In describing the requirements for confirmation, the reporter said she had "graduated from 'Now I Lay Me' to the Lord's Prayer."

Most Christian ministers, including those of the denomination in which she was confirmed, would agree that (1) if that is as far as she had "graduated," she still had a very long way to go in learning about prayer, but (2) the little girl had got about as far as thousands of "Christians" ever go. They learn the Lord's Prayer when they are children and that's that. When they grow up they don't actually pray, themselves; they leave it up to Grandma or the preacher—or the tiny tots who "sound so cute" saying "Now I Lay Me."

The Lord's Prayer

THIS is not meant to say anything against the Lord's Prayer, or to imply that we are wrong every time we use it. But our Lord did not mean that prayer to be used as a magic formula, he did not intend it as a substitute for our own free prayers. We know this is so, because in the first place he himself never used that prayer again, and in the second place, although dozens of prayers by Apostles and others are recorded in the New Testament, the Lord's Prayer, as such, is never used. Then what is the Lord's Prayer?

It is his suggestion as to the lines along which, and the spirit in which, we ought to pray. (See the book by William Douglas Chamberlain on the Lord's Prayer, "The Manner of Prayer."

One truth suggested by the Lord's Prayer is that we are not alone in the world. Every verb, every pronoun referring to the one who prays, is in the plural—OUR Father . . . forgive US . . . lead US . . . We have to remember that God is Father of others, not of ourselves alone; that we dare not be selfish in asking special favors of him for ourselves.

Maturing in Prayer

PRAYER at its lowest level is nothing much more than "Gimme." The untaught pray-er may even talk to God as if he were a personal servant, a kind of celestial bell-boy on call whenever we ring for him.

The growing Christian will grow in prayer as in all things; he will grow to the point where, even when he prays as an individual, he will be remembering how many ties bind him to other individuals; he will pray less and less for his own necessities and more and more for what he may share with others.

The beginning Christian, the childish Christian, will pray as a child prays. If his prayers were all arrows they would all point toward himself. As for the mature Christian, if his prayers were visible arrows they could be seen pointing into all the world; he will have those in every land for whom he prays, for his heart bears their names in love and faith.

Learning God's Will

A GOOD deal of worrisome argument has gone on over the question: Can prayer change the will of God? We shall be less bothered by that question when we discover two truths.

One is that in the Lord's Prayer, and in the Bible generally, we have already revealed to us the lines along which God's will moves; and the other is that prayer itself is a means of learning God's will.

If we know that God's will is against something, then, if we have any sense, we know there is no use in praying for that thing. If we know God's will desires something, then we can be confident that our prayers in that direction will be heard with favor.

A study of the Lord's prayer, from this angle, will teach a Christian how to pray in accordance with God's will. Paul knew this. When he prayed that his Philippian friends' "love may abound more and more," he knew very well that this was precisely in line with the will of the Father who is eternal Love.

An X-ray camera that, in effect, can go inside the living heart and come out with candid camera shots has been developed by doctors working at Harper Hospital under research grants provided by the Michigan Heart Association through funds raised in United campaigns.

The device makes it possible for surgeons to determine precisely how the heart is deformed or diseased without an operation. Its effectiveness has been demonstrated in nearly 200 cases including normal patients, and patients with such disorders as rheumatic heart, malformed heart, congenital deformities, tumors and ballooning of blood vessels.

A plastic hose no bigger around than 80 thousands of an inch is threaded through the vein from the elbow to the heart. Then a harmless radio-opaque substance carrying iodine atoms is injected through the hose. This outlines the heart in great detail so the camera can get a clear print of the heart in action. The substance enables the surgeon to find tiny lesions or minute malformations.

The camera used is a shutterless movie camera with a very fast lens—a Zeiss f.85. The lens, incidentally, has only three counterparts in the world, one at the University of California, another in New York, and the third in Stockholm. The camera is mounted on a slide inside a light-proof housing.

A three-foot, water cooled X-ray tube which is connected to a power plant capable of delivering 115,000 volts and 50 milliamperes provides the X-ray power for the camera. A fluoroscope is also used so the surgeon can watch the tiny hose as it goes from the patient's elbow to his heart.

The X-ray camera device helps to eliminate guesswork from heart surgery. It is an important development in the field of heart research, made possible through funds raised in United campaigns.

Devotion to Duty Keeps Cart-Pusher On 15-Hour Shift

NEW YORK, N. Y.—This is the story of George Kuscinkas, his heavy handcart, and devotion to duty.

George, who is 56, started walking, and pushing his handcart before him. That was at E. 10th street, Manhattan. Fifteen hours later a detective found him, pushing ever onward, at 229th st. and White Plains rd., the Bronx.

On a straight route the distance would be nearly 13 miles. George, for reasons beyond his control, had sort of zigzagged. Police estimated that the cart and its burden weighed 630 pounds. And George had done it all without food.

He didn't exactly carry out his assignment, which was to get a load of artists' materials over to 328 E. 23rd st. But even his temporary employer gave him credit for a hard try. He also paid George $25, which, with $5 chipped in by impressed photographers and reporters, made George richer than he'd been for a long time. And the employer said he regretted that the way he wrote "23rd st." looked like "234th st."

George, who is 5 feet 7 inches tall, came here 35 years ago from Lithuania. He never did find much success. The best job he ever had paid $45 a week, and that was during the war. Still, he kept going.

George, who is jobless, was offered a chance to earn a little money making a delivery. Having had nothing to eat for two days, George said yes. George's new employer gave him a slip of paper, showed him the handcart, and George started off.

Detectives said George showed dismay only once. When, at 229th st., he learned that he had missed his goal by miles, he exclaimed:

"Do I have to walk downtown again?"

The answer was no. He was taken home, with his burden, in the police car.

With the help of John Atkinson's 580 series, which included a 218 middle game, the E. J. Canning Co. trounced the Ellsworth Electric team taking all four points, to increase their lead in first place.

Dip's Tavern team and the American Legion bowlers both added 4 points to their win column, when Vale Shepard led the Tavern team with a 544 series, as they downed St. Joseph while the legionnaires were outbowling Thorsen's Lumber, with Abe Cole scoring 539 for the Legion.

Sommerville's Grocery won 3 from the Recreation, Spin Cihak leading their team and the league as he wired games of 180-205-209 together for 594, but Chris Taylor found the range for 235 in his last game to make things tough on the Recreation, who had a 914 middle game. The State Bank also took three points from their opponents, the State Farm Insurance, as they set a new team record with their 967 finisher, in the big game Lou Kamradt started with a five bagger and scored 222. Norm Bartlett added 209 and Bob Campbell, 204.

The Anchorage and Monarch Finer Foods divided 4 points, with the canners taking the first two games while the Anchorage won the last game and total pins.

Perch Fishing And Bird Hunting at its Peak on Beaver Island

Preparations are made to accommodate an unprecedented number of fishermen and hunters in the Charlevoix area for the next two or three weeks, it has been reported by Stewart E. Coleman, secretary of the Charlevoix Chamber of Commerce.

The fall perch run reached a peak that is expected to continue for the next two weeks and possibly longer in the Charlevoix Harbor and Round Lake there and also in St. James Harbor at Beaver Island, 32 miles off this port in Lake Michigan.

It has been reported by Archie Lafreniere, secretary of the Beaver Island Association of Commerce, that the perch run at St. James is the greatest in five years and that perch taken in the last few days have been larger than usual.

One day's catch by Beaves Islanders this week totaled 1,750 pounds, Lafreniere said, and many perch as large as 18 inches were taken.

For the first time in many years a bird hunting season will open on Beaver Island, Sunday, when hunters will be permitted to bag sharptail grouse, which were introduced on the island in the last few years by the Michigan Department of Conservation. Ruffed grouse and pheasant shooting will be illegal this season on Beaver Island.

Snowshoe rabbits have become plentiful on the island, Lafreniere said, and shooting of this species also will begin with the small game season Sunday. The state in recent years also placed cottontail rabbits on Beaver Island, but the season on them will be closed this year.

The Conservation Department will observe the results of the sharptail grouse on the 16-mile historic island this season and the results of these observations and a survey of the sharptail population on the island will be used to determine regulations for hunters next season.

Warren Shapton, game division biologist from Lansing, will visit Beaver Island during the bird hunting season to make observations and study the progress made by ruffed grouse that have been planted there.

Transportation to the island is available from Charlevoix via the Motorship North Shore, a ferry that leaves there at 9 a. m. daily, or by airplane operated from the Charlevoix airport by the McPhillips flying service. The planes will make the 20-minute flight to the island throughout the day whenever there are passengers. Automobiles are carried on the ferry.

Accommodations on the island are available at the King Strang hotel, at cabin resorts and tourist homes. Reservations may be made through the Beaver Island Association of Commerce.

Don't hesitate to give out advice. It passes time and nobody'll follow it anyway.

FARM FACTS from your County Agricultural Agent

Ed. Rebman, Co. Agr'l Agent

MINERALS MAKE MILK

Dairy farmers may be losing money in supplying minerals to their cattle, Ed Rebman, county agr'l agent, advised this week. Minerals are important, the farm adviser pointed out, but added that feeding minerals not needed, failing to feed essential minerals, or paying too much for commercial multiple-minerals is costly.

From Jim Hayes, extension dairy specialist at Michigan State College, the agent received these rules which he thinks will enable farmers to feed minerals properly and economically:

SALT: Common salt should be provided for cattle of all ages on a "help-yourself" basis. When salt is supplied this way none need be added to grain rations. The salt should be "loose" if the time of daily access to the supply is short. Do not throw salt in the manger at feeding time,—an intake of too much or too little may result. "Block" salt, as the sole supply, should be used only when the cattle can get at it practically all day, as where they are on pasture, in a pen-type barn or have containers at the stanchion line.

If the cattle keep in good health and in good production no other mineral need be fed.

Iodized salt should replace common salt if "big neck' or goiter occurs in new born calves, a signal of an iodine deficiency in the herd feed or water. Commercial "Trace Mineral Salt" contains sufficient stabilized iodine to prevent goiter.

Trace mineral salt should replace common salt when a deficiency of cobalt is indicated by cows lacking appetite for grain, by young stock lacking appetite for roughage or grain, or by any animals showing depraved appetites as when they chew boards or eat hair. The response to providing needed cobalt is quick. Improvement will be noted in a few days.

COBALT-SHY: Calves are special problems. When calves getting milk are unthrifty, lack appetite, dissolve one-fourth oz. of either cobalt sulphate or cobalt chloride in one quart of water. Feed one teaspoon a day till the calf improves. Feeding trace mineral salt to such calves does not seem to correct a cobalt deficiency quickly enough.

STEAMED BONE MEAL, containing phosphorous, need not be fed dairy cattle unless they have a depraved appetite that feeding trace mineral salt, containing, cobalt, does not cure. Calves or young stock practically never need extra phosphorus. Cows may lack phosphorus where the ration consists of only cereal grains, but not if the grain contains at least one sixth of a high protein feed such as soy bean oil meal. Such concentrates and mill feeds like bran are rich in phosphorus.

To feed steamed bone meal, mix it with common salt or trace mineral salt, one part of bone meal to three of salt. Feed the mixture as you would common salt.

Rural Tele-news

BARK THAT BITES — To test various types of insulating coatings for telephone wires, Bell Laboratories maintain a dense birch forest in New Jersey. Wires strung through the forest show how different materials resist the rubbing action of tree limbs under actual outdoor conditions.

TIME WAS when the horse and buggy offered rural families and friends the only means of visiting back and forth. With the telephone, "visiting" without leaving the farm became possible. Now, extended area service, which permits subscribers in certain neighboring communities to call one another without a specific toll charge, is bringing telephone users on the farm even closer to their social and marketing centers. By the end of this year, over 200 Michigan Bell exchanges will have this new service.

USEFUL . . . AND FUN — A survey shows that more than half the farm families served by Michigan Bell use their telephones for reaching the doctor, dentist and veterinarian, and for ordering parts, repairs, feed and supplies. "Visiting" with friends and arranging church and social activities are high up on the list too.

W. F. Empey passed away at his home on State St., in this city, Sunday, Oct. 10th, 1920.

William Fletcher Empey was one of East Jordan's earliest pioneers. Born in Ontario, Jan. 26, 1840, and came to Michigan in 1866. He located at East Jordan in 1874 when this region was a wilderness and the place yet unnamed. He built and conducted a general store and was the first postmaster. He was the first settler at this point. In 1877 a postoffice was established and Mr. Empey was appointed postmaster. When the office was about to be established the question of a name for the settlement came up. Mr. Empey sent a number of names to the department but they were rejected on account of there being other offices of the same name. At last he sent, among others, that of East Jordan which was adopted.

In the fall of 1883 his store building was destroyed by fire. He continued in business here until 1900 when he went to N. W. Canada for a few years, returning to East Jordan in 1904 in company with his brother, Joseph. They built the Empey Block and conducted the Empey Bros. Furniture Store for years. Mr. Empey was a charter member of Jordan River Lodge, F. & A. M. He was married to Ellen F. Brotherton in Sept. 1879, at Petoskey. She passed away April 17, 1898. CROP Donations Badly Needed

YOUNG AND OLD ALIKE SUFFER FROM LACK OF NUTRITION

Hunger does not respect age. Young and old alike suffer from the lack of sufficient nutrition. These photos give a graphic picture story of CROP's service to the "have-nots" overseas. (1). Purina cereal from CROP is a typical meal for many of the inhabitants of the Volksdeutsch refugee camps in Upper Austria. This refugee mother of six children wearily consumer her own meal as she quiets her four-week-old baby with a pacifier. (2). Frau Vera Hamiltz, 80 years old, hails from Silesia. She walked 500 miles in her 76th year before a CROP sponsored home offered a haven and a chance to live out her last years in comparative peace and applied usefulness. (3). Insufficiently clothed, their shoes in rags or barefooted, these hungry children in Cologne-Frohnhof must depend on CROP to live through the winter. (4). Many Japanese still live in shelters like this. CROP food is the only nourishment many children like the above have known in their lifetime.

Next Sunday, October 15th, is CROP Sunday.

By proclamation of Governor G. Mennen Williams, CROP Sunday will begin a week in which intensified drive for food collection will be inaugurated throughout Michigan.

Michigan farmers will be asked to donate a portion of their crops through the Christian Rural Overseas Program to help feed the sick, the aged, and the refugee peoples of this war-torn world.

America has never felt the earth-shattering impact of a high-explosive bomb. Nor has it had its fields and farms trampled underfoot by the boots and machines of warring nations. It has never had its buildings crumble under the jarring of artillery shells nor seared by incendiary or gasoline-jelly bombs. America has indeed been fortunate.

But not so in other lands.

Our wives, children and old folks never tasted the real bitter dregs of war. Never did they have to shrink in fear in a dank air raid shelter and pray to be spared a direct hit. Neither did they have to watch their homes burned and battered by an advancing army. Nor did they see hot metal sink into the flesh of a loved one.

But not so in other lands.

Our land was graciously spared and our children need not stand in line for food hoping that there will be enough to go around and knowing there won't be. Like at the Beit Sahur School in Bethlehem where 250 children are cared for. Stuart Pratt, former California CROP director and a former Church World Service Field Representative, recently visited this school. In addition to the 250 children in the school an additional 250 children from surrounding refugee camps are given food chits for meals at the school. The allocation for each days' meals is limited to gifts received through CROP.

"But then there is the third line," relates Mr. Pratt. "The children who do not have food chits who wait in line hoping there will be left overs so that they too can eat. But all too often there is little or none left over. The day that I was there only twenty-six children in the third line received food. I'll never forget the look on the face of the twenty-seventh youngster when he was turned away with an empty plate."

Can you in America imagine yourself having to turn away a child whose hungry belly is crying for a crust of bread?

On October 24th a 60 carload shipment of CROP food will be shipped from Chicago in observance of United Nations Day. One of these will be a carload of Michigan split beans donated by Michigan farmers. The Michigan shipment will be sent from Lowell, Mich., on October 13th. But this is only a token gift. Michigan has been asked to donate 85 carloads of food this year. Will you help?

Michigan farmers will soon be contacted by CROP canvassers who wil accept your gifts. CROP and it's three Parent Agencies: Catholic Rural Life, Church World Service, and Lutheran World Relief, will in turn send these gifts to the unfortunate overseas and distribute them on the basis of need and not on the basis of race, creed, or nationality.

Your donations are needed to show to the outside world that America is just as great as it is cracked up to be.

EXPLAINS USE OF CREDIT FOR FAMILY PURCHASES

Whether or not to use installment credit is one of the issues homemakers face today. Some families buy only for cash. Credit is not a problem for them. Other families have important needs that must be filled before they can accumulate the cash. A washing machine may wear out, or a newly established family may need furniture. Such families need and use credit.

It is the borderline use of credit that families should question today—if only for the effect of long-term credit on inflation, advises Irma H. Gross, head of the department of home management and child development at Michigan State College. Inflation occurs when there is an increased amount of money available with which to buy the same amount or smaller amount of goods. It is really like an anction sale in which buyers force the price of an article up by bidding against each other.

The new installment credit regulation put in effect September 18, 1950, may help borderline users of credit to decide not to use it. In general it increases the minimum size of down payment and decreases length of time allowed for payment of the outstanding debt.

The borderline user of credit may well recognize that he or she is aiding inflation and to refrain from using it is doing a part in holding back inflation.

Homemakers today are very much concerned whether they will be able to buy what they need for their families now or later. As responsible citizens of a free country they are concerned as to what effect their present buying may have on the national economy.

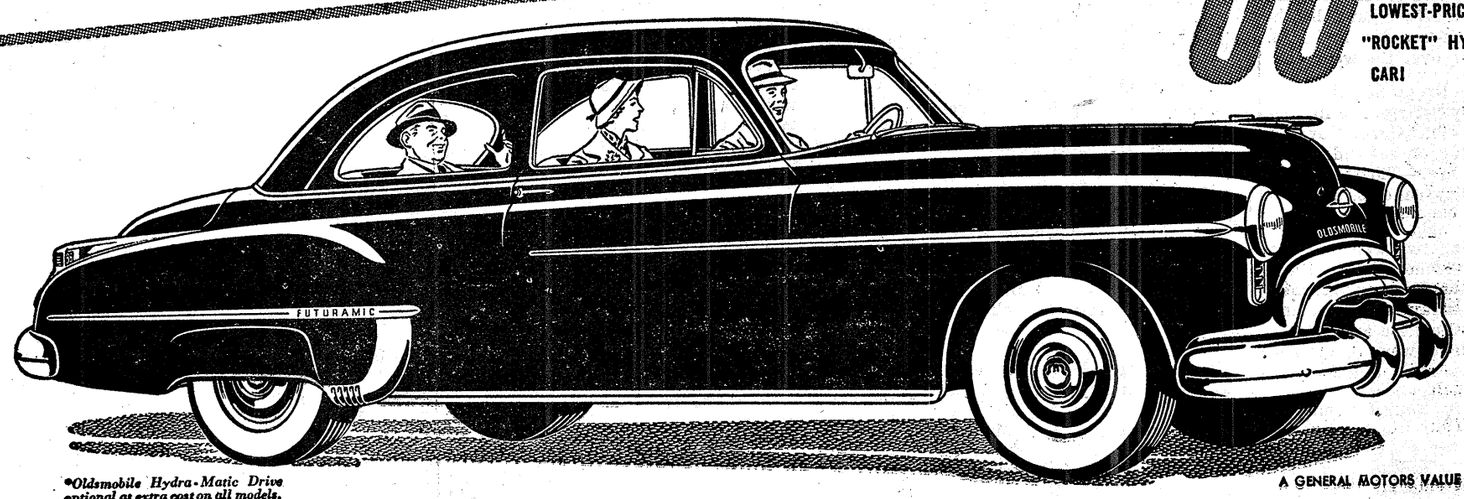

Gossip is like muddy water. Let it stand and it'll settle in a hurry.
